THORN'S TRIAL

May be Delayed Owing to the Sickness of a Juror.

The Murderer's Attorney Outlines the Policy He Is Pursuing During the Trial—Thorn Will Confess.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The trial of Martin Thorn, which has been in progress the last three days in the Queens county court of Oyer and Terminer at Long Island City, may be discontinued for an indefinite period, owing to the illness of Juror Mangus Larsen. When court adjourned yesterday until 9:30 o'clock this morning, the doctors who examined the juror thought he was only suffering from a slight stomach trouble and would be able to attend court today. After Larsen with the other jurors arrived at the Garden City hotel last night, it was discovered that Mr. Larsen was afflicted with appendicitis and his condition is so serious that physicians who are attending him will not allow him to leave his bed. This being the case, the sheriff did not bring up the other eleven jurors today, and reported the facts to the district attorney.

Several hundred men and women who assembled in the court room today expecting to hear Martin Thorn refute the testimony which Mrs. Nack gave so dramatically yesterday, were doomed to disappointment. Captain Methvin came with Thorn to the court room, the prisoner looking none the worse for his ordeal of yesterday. Judge Smith opened court a few minutes later and District Attorney Youngs informed him of the serious condition of Juror Larsen and on consent of the lawyers of both sides, Judge Smith adjourned the court until 9:30 tomorrow.

The sickness of Larsen brought up a discussion amongst those interested as to what would be done in case the juror's illness would be protracted.

"Will the people go on with the case with eleven jurors?" was asked.

Lawyer William F. Howe, counsel for the defense, said an Italian named Cancemi had killed a policeman in Broome street, New York, in 1858, and one of the jurors falling sick, the lawyers agreed to proceed with eleven jurors. Cancemi was convicted and an appeal to the court of appeals ruled that neither counsel for the people nor the prisoner could waive the constitutional right of the accused man, which called for a trial by a jury of twelve men instead of eleven. District Attorney Youngs was asked whether, in the event of the death of a juror, he would press for a new jury and proceed with the case during the present term. He replied that he would have to consult with his associates before answering the question.

"How long will the term last and how long will it be necessary to wait for the recovery of Larsen?"

To these questions Mr. Youngs replied:

"Both of these matters are in the discretion of the court."

After court adjourned Mr. Howe and Mr. Moss had a brief talk with their client, Thorn, before he was taken back to his cell. Later Mr. Howe outlined his proposed plan of defense, which he has been compelled to adopt owing to the confession of Mrs. Nack.

"Thorn will take the stand tomorrow," said he. "He will testify that the murder was conceived, plotted and planned by Mrs. Nack. We shall prove that she wanted to get rid of Guldensuppe in order that Thorn might take his place. Thorn will state that when he got into the cottage at Woodside on June 25 he found that Mrs. Nack had shot Guldensuppe and it was she who said: 'I have killed him.' In other words, Thorn is going to tell the truth about it—absolutely the whole truth," said Mr. Howe with a dramatic gesture.

"Will Thorn testify that Mrs. Nack took away the head or will he state that it was he himself who threw it into the river?" Mr. Howe was asked.

The lawyer hesitated for a moment and then replied: "Wait till we have got Thorn on the stand tomorrow; he will tell about it."

Lawyer Joseph F. Moss, who is associated with Mr. Howe in the defense of Thorn, was asked if, in the case of a new trial being ordered, the defense would accept an offer from the people for a plea of murder in the second degree from Thorn.

"Certainly not," he replied. "We would spurn such an offer."

When this was told to District Attorney Youngs he said that it was ridiculous and unworthy of a moment's attention. District Attorney Youngs and Judge A. N. Weller, who have charge of the case for the people, had a conference today with Judge Wilmot N. Smith. They were closeted for nearly an hour and after they separated Judge Weller said the prosecution had adopted the following program:

If Juror Larsen be not sufficiently recovered to attend to his duties in the jury box tomorrow (Friday) the people will ask for an adjournment until Monday, and then if, in the opinion of the physicians, the juror will not have sufficiently recovered, the district attorney will ask that the present jury be discharged and a new panel be drawn, from which a new jury will be selected immediately, and the trial will be pushed through during the present term.

A GREAT FIND.

Old Curiosity Shop Discovered in a Chimney.

Most Remarkable Conglomeration of Goods Unearthed by a Chimney Sweep at William Rockhill's Store.

With the coming of cold weather, William Rockhill, the boot and shoe dealer at 252 Calhoun street, felt the necessity of starting a fire in his store. The fire refused to burn with any degree of success and Mr. Rockhill took the trouble to be a clogged chimney flue. He was right, as developments showed. He went to work this morning to clean the chimney and it was not long before a new variety of "Klondike" was struck down that chimney hole in the shape of a miscellaneous collection of clothing, boots and shoes, chewing tobacco, toilet articles, etc. Here is what he fished out:

One overcoat, 1 razor, 1 razor strope, 1 stick shaving soap, 1 pocket comb, 1 blacking brush, 1 pair underdrawers, 2 pairs laundered cuffs, 2 laundered shirts, 1 box stove polish, 1 shoe dauber and brush, 2 laundered collars, marked "T. D.," 2 handkerchiefs, 1 valise, 1 plug tobacco, 1 box tooth dentrifice, 1 hair brush, 1 clothes brush, 1 pair spectacles and case, 1 whisk broom, 1 pair scissors, 1 lead pencil, 2 pairs kid gloves, 1 illustrated catalogue of lightning rod fixtures of the firm of Rayburn, Hunter & Co., of Philadelphia and Chicago.

The story of the stuffed chimney is interesting and solves a mystery that developed some six months ago. Last spring Thaddeus S. Marks and a man named Osborne were partners in the lightning rod business. Marks was boarding at Frank S. Robacker's, No. 252 Calhoun street, but did not pay and was "fired" out. When marks went for his personal effects Robacker would not let him have them and replevin proceedings were commenced in Justice Bullerman's court. A search of the premises failed to reveal any sign of Mark's alleged property.

The case was tried May 17, of the present year and it seems that since about that time Mark's effects have been nestling snugly in the chimney. How they got there may easily be guessed.

President McKinley Names Him as the Successor of Mr. Denby, With Headquarters at Pekin.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The president today appointed Charles Page Bryan, of Illinois, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to China. He is about forty-two years old and has been somewhat active in politics. He has been a member of the legislature for three terms and was a candidate for speaker. He was educated in Europe and is a fluent linguist. Minister Denby, who is succeeded by this appointment, has held the position since the beginning of President Cleveland's first term. President Harrison appointed Ex-Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, to succeed him, but he was objectionable to the Chinese government and Mr. Denby was left undisturbed.

THE FEEBLE-MINDED.

A Notable Address by Alexander Johnson.

Superintendent of the State Home Talks to the Conference of Charities on a Grave Question.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 11.—The third and last day of the annual State Conference of Charities and Correction is in point of interest and attendance the most successful of the meeting. This morning after a brief transaction of business an interesting paper was read by Rev. Francis H. Gavisk, of Indianapolis, on "Catholic Charities in Indiana." Addresses were made by William C. Ball on "Prison Reform," and Charles C. McClaughry, deputy warden of the Michigan City prison on "Recent Reforms at the Indiana State Prison." One of the most notable addresses of the meeting was delivered by Alexander Johnson, superintendent of the state home for feeble minded youth at Fort Wayne. His subject was "The Feeble Minded," and it attracted deep attention. Mr. Johnson spoke in part as follows:

"If the appeal I have to make today through you to the state of Indiana had nothing to back it up but your charitable sentiments, I should still think I have a good case But my appeal is not merely to the sentiment of charity. Every consideration of humanity, of wise statesmanship, of good public policy, combine to sanction and enforce the cause of the feeble minded. Even upon the lowest and most practical consideration, there is nothing which, done rightly, will help so much to diminish the drain on the pockets of the taxpayer as the wise and prudent care of these unfortunates.

"Now, let us look at some hard, unpleasant and sorrowful facts. We have in Indiana between 5,000 and 6,000 persons, who from mental weakness, other than insanity, are incapable of controlling their own lives and conducts. A few of these are the children of good, intelligent people, honorable, useful and worthy citizens; their sad condition has been caused either by accident before or after birth, or in some mysterious way which science cannot yet explain. Some of them, I do not know how many, but I do know some cases, are victims of the civil war. Their unhappy condition was caused by the mental anguish of their mother before they were born, thinking about her brave husband, fighting at the front to save this great nation of which you and I are so proud. But these are the exceptions—the majority are as they are, because their parents were the same, or similar. Not all the children of idiotic or feeble minded parents were the same or similar; not all the children of idiotic or feeble minded parents are themselves idiotic or feeble minded—some are paupers, or thieves, or epileptics, or insane, or mute, or blind. But nearly all the children born of imbecile parents are in such condition of body and mind that they cannot or do not earn their own living without some other care than ordinarily comes to them, but you and I must work for them, whether we will or no. They all, or nearly all, belong to those weaker ones, whose condition is the reason for the existence of this conference.

"Of this kind of people we know that the nation has about 95,000, almost as many as of the insane, and as I said, Indiana has between 5,000 and 6,000. The precise number is not known, the only statistics we have are those of the United States census of 1890, and in this department the figures are evidently erroneous. They are larger than those upon which my estimate is based. Now, the interesting question for this conference is, where are these people and what are they doing? I will tell you what they are doing presently. Of the rest, 136 who are under the age of sixteen years, are knocking at the door of our school, and cannot come in for want of room. The experience of the past justifies me in saying that before we get these 136 in there will be twice as many more knocking at the door. About 1,000 are in county asylums for the poor. Of this number about 350 are women of child-bearing age. Most of these are the mothers of one or more illegitimate children. Most of them will be the mothers of more such children in the next few years, and most of their children will be idiotic, feeble-minded, scrofulous consumptive, epileptic or tainted in some other way. The vast majority will join the dismal and downcast host who must live upon the fruit of other people's labor.

"There is one ascertained fact about this class of whom I am speaking, which I have not stated as positively as I must. It is known with certainty that of all physical or mental traits which are passed down by heridety from parent to child, these peculiar traits which we call idiocy and imbecility, are the most certain to be inherited. Think then what we are doing when we are neglecting these poor creatures. We are allowing a steady increase of a most undesirable class of citizens; we are building up the burden which our children must bear. Now if there were nothing to say about these dreadful facts than just to state them and offer no remedy, I should not be talking to you today.

"There is a remedy and it is with-

NACK'S CONFESSION.

Rev. Miles Tells How the Murderess Weakens.

Remorse Strikes Her While Listening to Religious Services in the Jail Corridors.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Rev R. H. P. Miles, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ravenswood, L. I., to whom, it is alleged, Mrs. Nack made her confession, said that he had not attempted to work on the woman's feelings, as has been alleged. Mr. Miles said that he began to visit the jail at the request of the jail physician, who thought that he could do Mrs. Nack good. Mr. Miles said that during his first few visits to the jail Mrs. Nack ridiculed his religion, but that he kept on preaching in the jail corridors. On Sunday last he took as his text: "Those who claim Him, yet I will trust." During the sermon Mr. Miles said he noticed that she was greatly agitated and was crying, and when he had finished he says Mrs. Nack came to him and told him that she wanted to confess the murder. Mr. Miles says he told her that he did not care to hear the confession, but told her to pray to the Lord. She got down on her knees and prayed, and later she told him that the prayer had greatly relieved her and that a great load had been lifted from her mind. He then left her without hearing the confession. He says that on Tuesday Mrs. Nack sent for him and that when he arrived at the jail she confessed the crime in all its details.

TRAIN BURNED.

Another Disaster Due to the Car Stove.

A Passenger Train Collides With a Freight Car and Fire Does the Rest.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 11.—The passenger train on the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis road, which left St. Louis last evening and which was due in this city at 7:30 o'clock this morning, was derailed and entirely consumed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning near Lowisport, Ky., ninety-eight miles from Louisville. No lives were lost and, so far as is known, no one was seriously injured. The accident is attributed to a freak of the high wind last night, which overturned a box car standing on the Lewisport siding. The car fell directly across the main track and near a sharp curve on the road. It was not seen by the engineer of the passenger train until it was too late to stop his engine and the train crashed into the obstruction, overturning the engine and tender and the combination car. The stove in the combination car set fire to the paper and other inflamable material around it and before the trainmen could remove the car the other coaches also caught fire, a sleeper and a day coach being totally destroyed, in addition to the combination car, in which was the smoker and baggage. The passengers had plenty of time to escape and Traffic Manager Hill, who was on the ill-fated train, wires that aside from a few bruises, no one was injured. The loss will be heavy.

AMONG THE LODGES.

History of the Fort Wayne Order of Elks.

What the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Society and Other Lodges Are Doing—Notes.

The Fort Wayne lodge, B P O Elks, No 155, was granted a charter July 10, 1890 The charter contains the following names G. B McKinnie, G. A. Renner, G. W Wilson, H J. Seibold, E W. Cook, B. E Hattersley, G A Rabus, J J. Williams, S. D Bond, G W. Long, George B. McKinnie, the first exalted ruler, died December 28, 1893 G W. Wilson succeeded him in office and is the oldest past exalted ruler of this lodge. The lodge has a membership of 160 Efforts are now being made to increase the membership and with that end in view a class of fifty or more has been started at a reduced rate. The whole class will be initiated about the third week in January. This will be made a red letter day for Elkdom in this city, as all the grand officers will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

The present officers are: F. S. Lightfoot, exalted ruler; H. J. Taylor, esteemed leading knight; J Ross McCulloch, esteemed loyal knight; F. W. Urbahns, esteemed lecturing knight; M. V. Walsh, treasurer; Albert C. Alter, secretary; J. J. Bauer, esquire; F. X. Mohr, inner guard; H. C. Meyer, tyler; Chas. F. Muhler, J. B. Renss, C. E. Centlivre, trustees.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was instituted in the city of New York, in the year 1867, by a few gentlemen of the theatrical profession, who, with many doubts and fears as to its feasibility, founded an organization designed to be charitable and protective in character, and which should include in its ranks the brain workers in the literary, dramatic and musical professions, while at the same time the door was not closed to those in other walks of life who should be in sympathy with the objects of the fraternity. The fame of the good work spread. Our city sisters founded branches from the parent stem, and today the fraternal chain has fully 200 links, each representing a city or town of importance, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

The animal from which the order derives its name is the American elk (Cervs, Canadenis), and the title commends itself to the founders, for the reason that the splendid qualities of this monarch of the glen were so marked The elk is described as strong of limb, fleet of foot, keen of perception, and at the same time gentle, timid and unaggressive, save when attacked. Its prototype in man should be quick to hear the cry of distress, fleet of foot to succor the unfortunate, and by his strength a protective interest for the weak and defenseless.

The order is a purely charitable organization, seeking to do its charity in silence, so that the proud spirit that suffers in secret, fearing more the blush of shame that comes of asking than the pangs of hunger, may feel that never will its sore need, nor the manner of its alleviation, be published to the world, and that the faults, the frailties, the necessities, and the help extended will remain as sacred confidences never to be divulged. And this fully explains the reason for the secrecy of the organization

Charity, brotherly love, and fidelity are the watchwords of the order, and humanity its keynote; and daily and hourly do the prayers of the widow and orphan ascend to the throne of grace, craving blessings upon the magnanimous and Beneficial Order of Elks.

ORDER OF RED MEN.

The chiefs and members of Oswego tribe No. 201, of Baldwin, Ind., are coming to the front. A little over two years ago the lodge was instituted and it has progressed slowly but surely, and now it has built a wigwam and will dedicate it next Saturday evening, with appropriate ceremonies A feature of the affair will be a masquerade ball. The members of Mechecunnoequa tribe, of this city, will leave on Saturday afternoon with their wives to attend

CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association was organized at Titusville, Penn., April 9, 1890, and incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania with only fourteen branches and 1,352 members, and at the present writing there are 380 branches and 27,000 members The objects of this association are to unite into a fraternal sisterhood all Catholic women and to mutually aid and assist one another There are two departments of this organiza-

The non-beneficiary department is for the main purpose of promoting sociability amongst Catholic ladies, and they are entitled to all the privileges of the beneficiary member with the exception of the insurance feature

St. Cecelia's branch, of this city, was organized July 7, 1897, in St. Patrick's parish, with fifty-four charter members, and since the institution of this branch the members have given several pleasant socables, which were well attended.

The meetings of this branch are held every alternate Thursday evening at their hall, corner of Calhoun and Highland streets, at 7:30 o'clock.

ORDER OF THE RED CROSS.

Lincoln commandery No. 6, of Fort Wayne, was organized April 9, 1896, with thirty-two charter members. There are now eighty-four commanderies and about 6,000 beneficary members. The order publishes a monthly, a little paper called the Red Cross Gazette, whereby members are informed as to the progress of the order, as it is sent free to each one. The financial depression of the country is no less felt in Fort Wayne than other cities, therefore retarding the increase of membership in all organizations. This order has been very successful, however, in meeting all its obligations, both beneficiary and social. Great interest is shown in attending the sick If a brother or sister is

JOINT INSTITUTE.

Wayne and Washington Townships Have an Interesting Meeting.

The teachers of the above townships met in joint institute, Saturday November 6, 1897, at the office of the county superintendent. All the teachers were present except Misses Walkly and Dalman, of Washington township. After the meeting was called to order by Professor Methley, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The discussion of "Plato's Protagoras" was introduced by Professor Methley.

Owing to the absence of one of the teachers, Mr. Clark was obliged to present the entire subject which he did most satisfactorily. Mr. Clark is a new member, but his thorough preparation for the work and his earnestness make him a most valuable acquisition to the teaching force of the county.

Much help was given upon this difficult subject by the talks and explanations of Superintendent Young and the suggestions of Professor Methley.

The entire afternoon session was occupied in the discussion of "Teaching the Language Art." The question when and how far should the teacher aid the pupil, was considered at length.

For want of time the subjects geography and music were passed over. Trustee Schmetzer was present during the forenoon session, and Trustee McQuiston was present for a short time in the afternoon and urged his teachers to exert themselves in bringing the children to witness the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the new court house. The institute adjourned to meet December 4, at the office of the county superintendent.

Executed by Mrs. Ida Tinkham on Her Death Bed.

She Bequeaths the Custody of Her Children to Her Father—A Contest Is the Result.

The announcement was made a few days ago of the death of Mrs. Ida Tinkham, at Warsaw. The deceased was the widow of Dr. Clyde P. Tinkham, who was located in this city at the time of his death a few years ago. By the death of Dr. and Mrs. Tinkham three children are left orphans. In her will Mrs Tinkham named her father, C. E. Noftzger, of North Manchester, Ind., as guardian of the children. Her father-in-law, John Tinkham, of this city, applied for the appointment and Judge Biggs, of Warsaw, granted it, there being no objection at the time and as Mr. Tinkham filed the required bond. Meanwhile Judge Shiveley, of Wabash county, had appointed Mr. Noftzger, and the latter has possession of the children and has succeeded in keeping them in accordance with the wishes of the mother. The matter will be settled in court.

IN THE DARK,

Will Geiger Has a Collision on a Roadway.

His Vehicle Badly Wrecked—Little Son of John Langhals Bumped by a Car—Other Accidents.

Last evening Will Geiger, the Adams express agent, and William McPhail were returning in Mr. Geiger's road wagon from a hunting trip, when the vehicle collided with a wagon which had been left in the roadway by some careless farmer. The road wagon was badly wrecked and the two occupants were slightly bruised. Mr. Geiger would rather hunt than eat, but thinks that birds come high at the rate he paid for them yesterday.

BUMPED BY A CAR.

Last evening, at the corner of Clay and Jefferson streets, Main street car No. 34 struck the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Langhalz, of No. 8 Oak street. MR CLEVELAND has evidently lost faith in the conjury of his name The new boy will not be called Grover, junior.

It is well the Braidwood mine operators have abandoned their intention to import Chinese coolie labor. Such a course would have been to invite all sorts of violence and that probably with the public approval, too.

MARYLAND already has a Wellington in the senate of the United States and now it is stated that the most promising candidate for Arthur P. Gorman's toga is Mr Bonaparte, one of Baltimore's wealthy business men, and a nephew of the first Napoleon. From the racket already kicked up among Maryland republicans it is not unlikely that Mr. Bonaparte's Austerlitz will be a Waterloo.

AGAIN we wish to admonish the mayor that police gambling is not dead in this city, notwithstanding the complacent assurance he has received from a local newspaper The gamblers will not die easy and the mayor will do well to keep his eyes and the eyes of his police open

THE will of the late Charles A. Dana has been probated The instrument devises property of the value of $1,200,000, all of which goes to the widow, except the shares of Sun stock owned by the late editor, and this is to be held by the son, Paul Dana, in trust. The will establishes the fact that during the thirty years Mr. Dana owned the Sun it was a splendidly paying piece of newspaper property.

"OLD MOORE'S ALMANAC," published in London, has for over 100 years given forecasts of important events, and claims to have made some big hits in its vaticinations. For 1898 it predicts "that there will be a terrible civil war in the United States, that the czar of Russia will die; that the young king of Spain will be kidnapped, and that on or about the second week of November of that year communication will be established between this planet and Mars."

WHILE no one has had any disposition to deny Murderer Durrant a single resort that would tend to save his neck from the gallows, it certainly seems that there has been an undue waste of time in getting to that point where the judgment of the law may finally take its course. It is almost three years since the awful crime was committed in the Emanuel church tower and the man adjudged guilty of the crime is still unwhipt of justice. The history of criminal jurisprudence during the past decade goes far to prove that the more unusual and atrocious the the circumstances of murder the more difficult it is to secure the punishment of the murderer

HEAVY STONES A farmer residing near Hemerville Ind., a station on the Pennsylvania road, twenty miles north of Jeffersonville, a few days ago made an interesting discovery relating to prehistoric ages In a ravine on Staten's farm a strata of iron ore is cropping out and the flow of water for many years has washed the overlying dirt away from the layer, leaving it bare and smooth On the ledge more than a dozen footprints were found, which looked like they were made when the stone was in a soft state Some of the footprints are three inches in depth Mr Staten will consult geologists to ascertain if they are worth preserving

The Case of Henry Smith.

There are doubtless some persons who will look upon the process by which Henry Smith was arrested and sent to jail as persecution of that man for his religious belief Nothing could be further from the truth Public policy demands that cases be dealt with in such manner as will deter others from pursuing like course

Mr. Smith means well. There is no question of his firm devotion to the peculiar form of Christian belief that he professes. But it must be borne in mind that he permitted his child to linger in pain and in jeopardy of life so far as those conditions are to be regarded as the consequences of a want of skilled medical attention Had the patient been afflicted with diphtheria, scarlet fever or other violent contagion the circumstances, there is no reason to doubt, would in no wise have been different. There would have been no physician called. The authorities would not have been notified No quarantine regulations would have been established and none of the usual and essential precautions taken to prevent the spread of the disease and guarantee the neighborhood against encroachment of the malady. And here is where the law properly interferes, not with any interdiction of the parent's right to believe if he likes in the superior efficacy of prayer over skilled human agencies, but to compel him to conform to those legal regulations which experience has proved to be necessary for the safety of the public health.

The law has not been invoked to restrict this man in the exercise of his conscientious religious belief, but to enforce a regulation established solely for the public safety and the prevention of suffering. To this mandate of the law all members of the community must yield acquiescence. While the constitution guarantees all possible freedom of conscience, neither the constitution nor the tenets of any Christian creed teach defiance of civil authority.

sick it is reported at once, and each member feels it his or her duty to attend to the wants of the afflicted one. The importance of making one's self of some use in life is presenting itself to members daily, and naturally exciting to the performance of duties that in time speak well for the welfare and interest of our order What greater delight, comfort and peace of mind can man or woman have than comes through doing unto his or her associates as they wish to be done by? Such is the doctrine and principles of the order of the Red Cross.

G. A. R.

J. S. Dodge, department commander of the G. A. R., has called the executive committee of the organization to meet him at Columbus, November 18. He will at that time fix the date for the next state encampment. It will be the first time that all the organizations auxiliary to the G. A. R will hold their annual meetings in the same city, and at the same time as the G. A. R., and in view of this fact the presidents of the Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies' Aid society, and the commander of the Sons of Veterans have been invited to join in the Columbus conference.

Choosing a Husband.

George Eliot says in one of her novels, that almost any woman can marry any man she makes up her mind to. Whether this is truth or fiction, certainly a woman chooses her husband often than he knows it But she must play the negative part She can only make herself as attractive as possible in a modest, womanly way and rely upon human nature and manly instinct

A sensible man naturally seeks a wholesome looking healthy, capable companion Men are not un selfish enough to willingly assume the care of a weak, nervous, debilitated wife

Men are not attracted by a sallow, pimply complexion, foul breath, or thin, emaciated form, because these symptoms are the sure index of poor digestion and impoverished blood

A woman afflicted by these mortifying miseries, should seek the powerful purifying and nutritional influence of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which completely dispels all unwholesome appearances by clearing and renovating the organic sources of healthful vitality.

It helps the liver to filter all bilious impurities from the blood. It gives the digestive organs power to extract nourishment from the food It rounds out thin forms, wipes away wrinkles, and gives to the complexion its natural clearness and bloom.

"Your Golden Medical Discovery" cured me of a severe case of poisoning of the blood writes Mrs Selia Reese of Coast, Santa Cruz Co Cal "Boils one after another would break out on my arms, and were very painful. I have tried the lonily praised Sarsaparillas without any benefit whatever, and not until I took your 'Discovery' did I get well. That was two years ago, and I have not had a boil or sore of any kind since."

THE TIME TO DIE.

Ever-Increasing Numbers of Old Young Men and Women.

The Terrors of Growing Old Young are Terrible.

Many Such Slowly Drooping from Premature Decay.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Prevents Untimely Old Age.

For a man or woman to reach a ripe old age in possession of fair health and when the end comes to sink peacefully to rest after the powers of life are worn out in a natural manner is a beautiful thing. How different it is with the victim of premature decay. In this case a premature old age creeps upon the victim attended with innumerable ills and miseries. This condition brings with it derangements of the various organs, disturbances and disorders of the stomach, liver complaint, disease of the kidneys, constipation of the bowels, palpitation of the heart, vertigo, lassitude and languor, extreme nervousness, sleepless nights, horrid dreams when sleep comes, gloomy forebodings, melancholia, hopelessness, despair. This condition is brought about by overtaxing the natural powers, by over-work, imprudence and excesses, and only by the highest intelligence and skill can the malady be arrested and a restoration to the old time strength and vigor effected. This fortunately is possible.

Dr. Greene's Nervura the great blood and nerve remedy, which has restored so many thousands to health, arrests prematture decay and replenishes the system, making rich blood and restoring strength to the nerves.

This wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is the greatest ever discovered for the cure of blood and nerve diseases and especially in cases of early decay of the powers.

There is now no longer any need for promising lives to be buried out or for the sick and suffering to drag along a miserable existence. Dr Greene has discovered the medicine by years of patient investigation that reaches and overcomes this calamitous affliction, restores vitality and vigor and in effect creates a new man or woman. In thousands upon thousands of cases Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has been effectual. There never has been any failure and what Dr. Greene's wonderful Nervura has done for others it will do for you.

You can consult Dr. Greene personally or by letter, free. If you are sick and suffering write to Dr. Greene detailing your symptoms. Tell him all your ills without reserve and after he has examined your case he will give you his advice by letter, free. Here is a great opportunity for you. Write to Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., this very day and you will be glad of it.

STARTED TO KLONDIKE.

Got as Far as Fort Wayne and Went "Broke"—Makes the Trip in Two Days.

Bluffton News:

A Miller street citizen started to the Klondike Saturday night. He was loaded with whisky at the time and didn't know exactly what he was doing or in what part of the country the Klondike was located His starting point westward was Fort Wayne, and after staying there two days he again returned and the Klondike trip is all off

The story current is that the fellow, who is usually industrious and sober, had been spreeing for a day. He came home Saturday night, told his wife that he was going to Alaska, borrowed $100 and started It transpires that he went to Fort Wayne, where in two days the money vanished in some mysterious way The loss of the money sobered him considerably and the idea that he wanted to dig gold was dissipated. He returned home last evening, settled matters satisfactorily with his family and went back to work. Thus ends the first Klondike expedition from Bluffton.

FAST MAIL.

The Government Decides to Improve a Western Route.

Southwestern Lines Finally Arrive at a Traffic Agreement—Affairs on the Wabash

TOPEKA Kan, Nov 11—Word has been received in Topeka that the government has decided to improve the Kansas fast mail service and has arranged with the Santa Fe railway to have the time of the fast mail train from Kansas City to Newton shortened so that it will connect at the latter place with No 7, west-bound, on the main line, and with the Great Western train The fast mail will leave Kansas City half an hour earlier, at 2 50 a m, and arrive at Newton at 7 10 a m, making an average speed of sixty four miles an hour This will give the people on the main line and branches west of Newton and those on the Galveston line their eastern mail to hours earlier than they get it now The new arrangement will probably go into effect November 21

A NEW TRAFFIC AGREEMENT

ST LOUIS, Nov. 11—The conference of passenger agents of southwestern lines, in session here for the past few days, has revised and completed the articles of agreement of the new passenger association and the agreement will take effect as soon as signed by the executive officers of the different companies which will not be later than December 1 A set of resolutions to govern the officials and the employes will be made to suit the agreements The matter of through ticket commissions to be paid to agents of connecting lines will be considered today and a schedule of rates for the same will be adopted The Kansas City, Pittsburg and North railroad company is not a member of the new association The policy of the present management is to stay out of all traffic agreements

THE WABASH NEW FLEET SLEEPERS

ST LOUIS, Nov 11—The Wabash will change time on Sunday November 14 With this change the company will inaugurate a line of through buffet sleepers between Kansas City and Buffalo, via St Louis, leaving Kansas City at 9 20 p m, arriving at Buffalo at 7 10 the second morning Returning sleepers will leave Buffalo at 11 p m and arrive at Kansas City at 7 15 a m the second morning The running time between Kansas City and St Louis and Toledo will be shortened forty minutes No 1 will be a new train out of Detroit, leaving at 10 30 p m and arriving at Chicago at 7 35 a m With this change the company will also resume through service between the Mississippi river and the east, via Hannibal, and a new train out of Kansas City at 11 a m will carry a through chair car from Kansas City to Buffalo, arriving at destination at 6 10 p m next day Westbound a new line of through chair cars, via Hannibal, will run into Kansas City on a new train, arriving at 1 30 p m, next day

MORE ABOUT THE EEL RIVER ROAD

The directors of the Eel River Railroad company held a meeting at Butler, Ind, yesterday, at which the following officers were elected President, H W Crispre, of Boston, Mass, secretary and treasurer, P W Smith, of Boston, Mass general manager, W V Troutman, of Butler, Ind The officers and stockholders were of the opinion that the Wabash company would not allow the Eel River to pass beyond their control and that when the property was sold that company would buy it In fact, it was given out that the Wabash will make the Eel River its main line in the event of the Ohio line to Toledo being sold under the Compton judgment which now seems assured Here is a point that should be observed by Fort Wayne, Huntington Wabash and other towns on the line east of Peru If the predictions of the Eel River stockholders should be verified this city would be merely a point on a local branch of the Wabash system instead of one of the best towns on the main line, as it has been for the past forty five years Again we call attention to the proposition of interesting the company and people of this district in a proposed connecting line from this city to Butler twenty two miles

CARPENTERS UNION MEETING

A large number of Fort Wayne carpenters responded to the call for a mass meeting last night, and listened to addresses by members of the local Carpenters' union and representatives from other labor organizations, who impressed on those present the necessity of booming the carpenters' organization at the present time Several new members were added to the roster of the union and many others signified their intention of becoming members within a short time The carpenters at one time had the largest labor organization in Fort Wayne, and it is the hope of the members to make it as large as it ever was

PROBABLY ONLY IDLE TALK

Toledo Bee 'A rumor has gained currency that the Wabash company will remove its shops, now at Springfield, Ill to Decatur The story seems to be an improbable one for the reason that the company would necessarily abandon a vast amount of real estate at the former place which would not find a buyer for years to come The purchase of a new stationary engine and other improvements now going on at the Toledo shops would indicate that the amount of work to be done here will be increased in the future'

ORDERS FOR LOCOMOTIVES

The Baldwin locomotive works have within the past few days booked orders for fifty six locomotives The orders include twenty one locomotives for the government state railway of Finland, the first order of any magnitude that has ever been placed in this country from that place Another order is for twenty four heavy broad gauge locomotives for the government of Brazil, while the third order is from the Grand Trunk railway of Canada and is for ten locomotives All of these orders call for the completion and delivery of the locomotives by January, 1898

A DITTOF OF ORDERS

Such is the situation at the electric works this week J J Wood, the superintendent, said this morning that the men engaged in building dynamos were 107 behind the orders, notwithstanding the fact that they have been and are still working from two to four hours overtime in some of the departments When Mr McDonald returns from the east some definite movements toward the erection of an addition to the factory will probably be taken It is understood that the sale of bonds has been satisfactory

TWO INSPECTION PARTIES

Superintendent of Signals W McG Grafton and Superintendent of Telegraph A M Schoyer of the Pennsylvania lines, are out on their annual inspection of the interlocking switches and telegraph offices They left Chicago on a special train this morning, accompanied by Trainmaster Charles E Walton and Chief Dispatcher Will H Tigar, and will arrive in this city this evening Another special train which left Chicago this morning over the Pennsylvania carries a party of freight officials on their annual inspection This party will stop at all stations en route and reach this city some time this evening They will remain here over night and continue the inspection eastward tomorrow

The World Grows Wiser

As the days go on, and even the matter of selecting one's clothing is no longer left to the judgment of the dealer. People are thinking more for themselves than formerly—it is an age of education—they reason on a firm's possibilities, honesty and reputation, and then apply The Analysis of Common Sense.

It is certain that a great many men in Fort Wayne who have heretofore paid from $15 to $25 for a ready-made Suit or Overcoat have been doing some tall thinking for themselves and have wisely concluded to pay a Small advance in price and have their clothes properly made at our establishment.

It Is a Fact....

And is becoming generally known that we are turning out the Most Stylish, Best Fitting and Best Tailored Clothes for Less Money than any shop in the city.

Step into our store to-morrow—or any other day—and let us show you our line of Suitings at $18, $20, $25 and $30, and our line of Trousers at $5, $6, $7 and upwards. You can't match them anywhere for the price.

A Letter From Jessie May Hall.

Mrs. Esther Karn received the following letter. The song mentioned therein was dedicated to Miss Hall at her own request:

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 6.

Mrs Esther Karn, City.

DEAR MADAM:—The song written by you, entitled "Jessie," and which you have had the kindness to dedicate to me, I appreciate very highly. It is good music and I had hoped to sing it during this week's engagement in Fort Wayne, but I have been so exceedingly busy that I could not prepare myself to sing it in a manner to do justice to you or myself.

Respectfully,
JESSIE MAE HALL.

'Tis a sweet little ballad," said she—
This little soubrette. "And moreover
When I've done rehearsing, I'll learn it to sing
If my photo appear on the cover."

She could sing of the lady "high-born,"
The song that we all so well know,
Twas written one day, by a man far away,
Among the poets of long, long ago

Of poor Jenny who came 'thro' the rye,'
Though olden we never will spurn it
'Twas written in seventeen hundred I think—
So, of time she's had plenty to learn it.

Why she sang not that sweet ballad, "Jess,"
I suppose every one of you wondered.
But you've only to wait for the ope' of the gate
Leading into the year twenty hundred.

—MRS ESTHER KARN.

WANTED—A good, willing boy to learn plumbing trade. The Robert Orden Plumbing Co.

THE FEEBLE-MINDED.

in our power It is no Utopian scheme, but a common man's work to be done with common sense and a good heart. The state must take care of all these poor people for life, must give them a good home and train those of them who can be trained so that they shall earn their own living when they are old enough and strong enough; must make them happy and contented; must give them all that other people have, except just one thing, and that is married life.

"Now I can best tell you how I think the state should do the work for all the rest by telling you what we are doing with the 575 we have at Fort Wayne We have there a great big building which cost a great deal of money, and holds 520 children on a lot of fifty-five acres. We have also a frame building which cost very little, and holds fifty-five boys on a farm of 505 acres partly owned and partly rented. Of our 575, 390 are in school part of the day, and all learn something. Our youngest child is five, our oldest forty-seven, still always children. Every child able to work does a little to help, many do a great deal. Of our 575, about 120 can be properly classed as quite self-supporting, is., the work they do is worth the entire cost of their board, clothes and care. These are the older children, who have gone through school, and now belong to the industrial or domestic departments. They are our shoemakers, tailors, dressmakers, laundresses, assistant cooks, helpers of the engineer and blacksmiths, gardners, teamsters, milkers, brickmakers, bricklayers, hod carriers, assistant carpenters, mattress makers, hostlers, plowmen and those employed as aids in the care of the younger and weaker children. Our garden force gave us a splendid supply of vegetables all summer, and enough canned tomatoes, kraut and other vegetables, except potatoes and onions, for the winter. Our brickmakers molded and burned a quarter million good brick this season, and as it was their first year, we think they will make half a million next year. Our milkers send us down seventy-five gallons of milk every day, and our farm boys give us fat hogs enough to provide all our hams, bacon, pork and lard. Our shoe shop gives us about 1,200 new pair of shoes and does 3,000 or more mending jobs each year. Our laundry boys and ironing room girls take care of about 11,000 pieces every week. In each department is one paid employe, the foreman of the gang, working with the feeble-minded boys or girls. Our brass band makes music for all, but our singing classes show results that surprise our friends. Our schools begin below the kindergarten and end in the industrial building. We think we have as good chapel services as anybody, and we gave one of our quarterly review Sunday school lessons so well that we were invited to give it as a normal lesson for the township Sunday school institute and convention.

"We are doing a little better work every year and are doing it a little more cheaply because we are learning to do it better. When I tell visitors, here is a boy, or here is a girl, who is quite self-supporting, they often say, 'But he cannot do a man's work,' and I say, 'No, certainly not. A laboring man with steady employment can support himself and a family. If he could do a man's work, he would be three times self-supporting. If he does one-third of a man's work, he supports himself in this institution,' and then they begin to understand that our workers are happier with us than out in the world, because we do not overtask them, nor expect of them any more than they can do without undue fatigue of body or brain.

"Now, that I have told you something of what we are doing, you will begin to see my plan for the whole work. Give us all the children of feeble minds, let us train them in our schools and graduate them to our farms, our shops and other industries. Let us keep them when they grow to the age and stature of men and women, and very shortly you will have all the feeble-minded in the safe motherly care of our good mother state, and one source of trouble, one prolific fountain of evil will be stopped. This is the normal way—to begin with them as children and keep them when full grown But there is just one class of adults whom I would like to see given us at once. It is the feeble minded women of child-bearing age, now in the county poor asylums. I have already told you why these should have the state's care. The annual cost of each of these poor women to the taxpayers is about $75 Our brick yard force next summer will try to make bricks enough to build homes for 300 of them, then we shall ask the legislature of 1899 for enough money to make the bricks into good, plain, substantial cottages, and to give us an increase of our maintenance fund, enough to care for them at not to exceed what they are costing the taxpayers now.

"Of course, in a few years, if we take in the young children and keep extending our accommodation, the institution would soon grow too large and unwieldy for economy and wise management. I think with our present land we ought not to more than double our present population. With 500 acres more we might take in 1,500. Then, there must come another institution in the southern part of the state, built and equipped better than ours, because gaining knowledge from our experience. Perhaps also the legislature will take our epileptics from us, or at least give us no more of them, by establishing a special epileptic colony, as Ohio and New York have done. However these things may be for the next few years, I think the course to be pursued is plain and certain.

"Now, if this plan seems feasible, sensible and practical, if the needs and the advantages are anything like what I have described them to be, will you not all help us to secure the room and maintenance we need by urging our claims upon your representatives and senators? What we are doing for the feeble-minded and idiotic may be done in similar ways for all those who need the state's parental care, and who for their own sakes and for the sake of ourselves and our children should be eliminated and segregated."

Klondike Canadian Mining Laws.

In Canadian territory any male or female, citizen or alien, over 18, can take out a miners license for $15 to be renewed each year at $100. Everything is done to foster and encourage the miner. Our government has left the Western pioneers to make their own laws, protect themselves and property and build their own roads. Joseph Ladue says in "Life in Klondike," "Miner's law is all right in the first stages. Then it is all by miner's meeting. They begin by being fair, but after a while cliques are formed and run things to suit the men in them. Some writers condemn the Canadian royalty of 10 and 20 per cent. Thousands of Western miners would gladly give 10 to 20 per cent. if this government encouraged them to the extent that the Canadian government does. Notably is this true of the rich gold and oil fields of Wyoming. None need fear the Canadian treatment of mines and miners. A striking instance of liberality is the fact that Joseph Ladue, an American citizen, acquired a rich placer claim, 1,000 feet long (claims are now restricted to 500 feet,) yielding $12 per cubic foot; a grant of 15 miles of timber on both sides of the Yukon on which Mr. Ladue erected a saw mill, now earning $1,350 per day; the town site of Dawson City, a very rich quartz claim of free milling ore 600 feet wide, assays of which average $300 per ton, and a charter with full powers for every line of profitable business. Owing to a change in the law no such charter can now be obtained by any other company. This charter and all of the above properties, including 80 carefully selected lots in Dawson City, have been turned over by Mr. Ladue to the Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Development company of Yukon, which owns in fee simple all of the above valuable assets. Many others are seeking to sell stock on strength of what they hope to acquire next year. Mr. Ladue is president and general manager, and the directors are Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Hon. Thomas L. James, ex-Postmaster General and President of the Lincoln National Bank, New York; Hon. Smith M. Weed; H. Walter Webb; Hon. C. H. MacIntosh, Governor of the Canadian North Western Territories, and others of equal ability. With such a directorate and such properties success is assured. The subscription lists to the stock of the company are now open at the Chicago offices, 1106 Chamber of Commerce Building.

THORN'S TRIAL.

May be Delayed Owing to the Sickness of a Juror.

The Murderer's Attorney mentions the Power of the Pageant During the Trial—Thorn Will Confess.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The trial of Martin Thorn, which has been in progress the last three days in the Queens county court of Oyer and Terminer at Long Island City, may be discontinued for an indefinite period, owing to the illness of Juror Maagne Larsen. When court adjourned yesterday until 1:30 o'clock this morning, the doctors who examined the juror thought he was only suffering from a slight stomach trouble and would be able to attend court today. After Larsen with the other jurors arrived at the Garden City hotel last night, it was discovered that Mr. Larsen was afflicted with appendicitis and his condition is so serious that physicians who are attending him will not allow him to leave his bed. This being the case, the sheriff did not bring up the other eleven jurors today, and reported the facts to the district attorney.

Several hundred men and women who assembled in the court room today expecting to hear Martin Thorn refute the testimony which Mrs. Nack gave so dramatically yesterday, were doomed to disappointment. Captain Meehrin came with Thorn to the court room, the prisoner looking none the worse for his ordeal of yesterday. Judge Smith opened court a few minutes later and District Attorney Youngs informed him of the serious condition of Juror Larsen and on consent of the lawyers of both sides Judge Smith adjourned the court until 9:30 tomorrow.

The sickness of Larsen brought up a discussion amongst those interested as to what would be done in case the juror's illness would be protracted.

"Will the people go on with the case with eleven jurors?" was asked.

Lawyer William F. Howe, counsel for the defense, said an Indian named Cancosa had killed a policeman in Broome street, New York, in 1866, and one of the jurors fell ill during the trial, the lawyers agreed to proceed with eleven jurors. Cancosa was convicted and an appeal to the court of appeals ruled that neither counsel for the people nor the prisoner could waive the constitutional right of the accused man, which called for a trial by a jury of twelve men instead of eleven. District Attorney Youngs was asked whether, in the event of the death of a juror, he would press for a new jury and proceed with the case during the present term. He replied that he would have to consult with his associates before answering the question.

"How long will the term last and how long will it be necessary to wait for the recovery of Larsen?"

To these questions Mr. Youngs replied:

"Both of these matters are in the discretion of the court."

After court adjourned Mr. Howe and Mr. Moss had a brief talk with their client, Thorn, before he was taken back to his cell. Later Mr. Howe outlined his proposed plan of defense, which he has been compelled to adopt owing to the confession of Mrs. Nack.

"Thorn will take the stand tomorrow," said he. "He will testify that the murder was conceived, plotted and planned by Mrs. Nack. We shall prove that she wanted to get rid of Guldensuppe in order that Thorn might take his place. Thorn will state that when he got into the cottage at Woodside on June 25 he found that Mrs. Nack had shot Guldensuppe and it was she who said: 'I have killed him.' In other words, Thorn is going to tell the truth about it—absolutely the whole truth," said Mr. Howe with a dramatic gesture.

"Will Thorn testify that Mrs. Nack took away the head or will he state that it was he himself who threw it into the river?" Mr. Howe was asked.

The lawyer hesitated for a moment and then replied: "Wait till we have got Thorn on the stand to-morrow; he will tell about it."

Lawyer Joseph F. Moss, who is associated with Mr. Howe in the defense of Thorn, was called in, in the case of a new trial being ordered, the defense would accept an offer from the people for a plea of murder in the second degree from Thorn.

"Certainly not," he replied. "We would spurn such an offer."

When this was told to District Attorney Youngs he said that it was ridiculous and unworthy of a moment's attention. District Attorney Youngs and Judge A. N. Waller, who have charge of the case for the people, had a conference today with Judge Wilmot N. Smith. They were closeted for nearly an hour and after they separated Judge Waller said the prosecution had adopted the following program:

If Juror Larsen be not sufficiently recovered to attend to his duties in the jury box tomorrow—Friday—the people will ask for an adjournment until Monday, and then if, in the opinion of the physicians, the juror will not have sufficiently recovered, the district attorney will ask that the present jury be discharged and a new panel be drawn, from which a new jury will be selected immediately, and the trial will be pushed through during the present term.

A GREAT FIND.

Old Curiosity Shop Discovered in a Chimney.

Most Remarkable Conglomeration of Goods Unearthed by a Chimney Sweep at Williams Bros.' Old Store.

With the coming of cold weather, William Reckhill, the best and shoe dealer at 2524 Calhoun street, felt the necessity of starting a fire in his store. The fire refused to burn with any degree of success and Mr. Reckhill took the trouble to hire a dogged chimney flue. He was right, as developments showed. He went to work this morning to clean the chimney and it was not long before a new variety of "Klondike" was struck down that chimney hole in the shape of a miscellaneous collection of clothing, boots and shoes, chewing tobacco, toilet articles, etc. Here is what he fished out:

One overcoat, 1 razor, 1 razor strops, 1 stick shaving soap, 1 pocket comb, 1 blacking brush, 1 pair suspenders, 2 pairs handkerchiefs, 1 hundred collars, marked "T. B.," 2 handkerchiefs, 1 valise, 1 plug tobacco, 1 box tooth destroyer, 1 hair brush, 1 clothes brush, 1 pair spectacles and case, 1 whisk broom, 1 pair scissors, 1 pocket knife, 1 pair kid gloves, 1 illustrated catalogue of lighting and fixtures of the firm of Kapham, Hunter & Co., of Philadelphia and Chicago.

The story of the stuffed chimney is interesting and solves a mystery which has been in vogue for years. Last spring Thaddeus S. Marks and a man named Osborne were partners in the lightning rod business. Marks was boarding at Frank S. Robacker's, No. 1251 Calhoun street, but in the spring and early "fored out." When Marks went for his personal effects Robacker would not let him have them and replevin proceedings were commenced in Justice Ballenman's court. A search of the premises failed to reveal any sign of Mark's alleged property.

The case was tried May 17, of the present year and it seems that since about that time Mark's efforts have been stuffing stogy in the chimney. How they got there may easily be guessed.

MINISTER BRYAN.

The Illinois Politician Gives a Fat Office.

President McKinley Names Him as the Successor of Mr. Bonfey. With Hearty Concurrence of Friends.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The president today appointed Charles Page Bryan, of Illinois, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to China. He is absently two years old and has been somewhat active in politics. He has been a member of the legislature for three terms and was a candidate for speaker. He was educated in Europe and is a fluent linguist. Minister Denby, who is succeeded by this appointment, has held the position since the beginning of President Cleveland's first term. President Harrison appointed Ex-Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, to succeed him, but he was objectionable to the Chinese government and Mr Denby was left undisturbed.

Judge E. O'Rourke and Clark Fairbank are billed to lecture before the Theosophical society this even at the rooms, 32 Calhoun street. The subject is, "Discoveries of the World, Jesus or Buddha?" The meeting is open to the public.

THE FEEBLE-MINDED.

A Notable Address by Alexander Johnson.

Superintendent of the State Home Talks to the Conference of Charities on a Grave Question.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 11.—The third and last day of the annual state Conference of Charities and Correction is in point of interest and attendance the most successful of the meeting. This morning after a brief transaction of business an interesting paper was read by Rev Frances H. Gurnick, of Indianapolis, on "Catholic Charities in Indiana." Addresses were made by William C. Ball on "Prison Reform," and Charles C. McLaughley, deputy warden of the Michigan City prison on "Recent Reforms at the Indiana State Prison. One of the most notable addresses of the meeting was delivered by Alexander Johnson, superintendent of the state home for feeble minded youth at Fort Wayne. His subject was "The Feeble Minded," and it attracted deep attention. Mr Johnson spoke in part as follows:

"If the appeal I have to make today through you to the state of Indiana had nothing to back it up but your charitable sentiments, I should still think I have a good case. But my appeal is not merely to the sentiment of charity. Every consideration of humanity, of wise state manship, of good public policy, combine to sanction and enforce the cause of the feeble minded. Even upon the lowest and most practical consideration, there is nothing which, done rightly, will help so much to diminish the drain on the purses of the taxpayer as the wise and prudent care of these unfortunates.

"Now, let us look at some hard, unpleasant and unsavory facts. We have in Indiana between 6,000 and 8,000 persons, who from mental weakness, other than insanity, are incapable of controlling their own lives and conducts. A few of these are the children of good, intelligent people, honorable, well to do, worthy citizens; their condition has been caused either by accident before or after birth, or in some mysterious way which science cannot yet explain. Some of them, I do not know how many, but I do know some cases, are victims of the vices of their parents. Whatever condition was caused by the mental anguish of their mother before they were born, thinking about her brave husband, fighting at the front to save the great nation of which you and I are so proud. But these are the exceptions. The vast majority are as they are, because their parents were the same, or similar. Not all the children of idiotic or feeble minded parents were the same or similar; but all the children of idiotic or feeble minded parents are themselves idiotic or feeble minded—some are paupers, or thieves, or epileptics, or insane, or mute, or blind. But nearly all the children born of imbecile parents are in such conditions of body and mind that they cannot or do not earn their own living without some other care than ordinarily comes to them, but you and I must work for them, whether we will or no. They all, or nearly all, belong to those weaker ones, whose condition is the reason for the existence of this conference.

"In view of this knowledge we know that the nation has about 90,000, almost as many as of the insane, and so I said, Indiana has between 6,000 and 8,000. The precise number is not known, the only statistics we have are those of the census of 1890, and in this department the figures are evidently erroneous. They are larger than those upon which our estimate is based. Now, the interesting question for this conference is, where are these people? I will tell you what they are doing presently. Of the rest, 126 who are under the age of sixteen years, are knocking at the door of our school, and cannot come in for want of room. The experience of the past justifies me in saying that before next year there 126 in there will be twice as many more knocking at the door. About 1,000 are in county asylums for the poor. Of this number about 250 are women of childbearing age. Most of these are the mothers of more or less children. Most of them will be the mothers of more such children in the next few years, and most of their children will be idiotic, feebleminded, scrofulous consumptive, epileptic or tainted in some other way. Some of them in New York are kept dosed and dormant but who must live upon the fruit of other people's labor.

"There is one ascertained fact about this class of whom I am speaking, which I have not stated as positively as I might. It is then a certainty that of all physical or mental traits which are passed down by heredity from parent to child, these peculiar traits which we call idiocy and imbecility, are the most certain to be inherited. Think then about feeding them in part, by neglecting those poor creatures. We are allowing a steady increase of a most undesirable class of citizens; we are multiking up the lards in which our children must lear. Now if there were nothing to say about these dreadful facts but just to make them and offer no remedy, I should not be talking to you today.

"There is a remedy and it is with

NACK'S CONFESSION.

Rev. Miles Tells How the Murderess Weakened.

Remorse Strikes Her While Listening to Religious Services in the Jail Corridors.

New York, Nov. 11—Rev. R. H. P. Miles, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ravenswood, L. I., to whom it is alleged, Mrs. Nack made her confession, said that he had not attempted to work on the woman's feelings, as has been alleged. Mr. Miles said that he began to visit the jail at the request of the jail physician, who thought that he could do Mrs. Nack good. Mr. Miles said that during the first few visits to the jail Mrs. Nack ridiculed his religion, but that he kept on persisting in the jail corridors. On Sunday last he took as his text: "Those who claim Him, yet I will trust." During the services Mr. Miles said he noticed that she was greatly agitated and was restless, and when he had finished he says Mrs. Nack came to him and told him that she wanted to confess the murder. Mr. Miles says he told her that he had no right to hear the confession, but told her to pray to the Lord. She got down on her knees and prayed, and later she told him that the prayer had greatly relieved her and that a great load had been lifted from her mind. He then left her without hearing the confession. He says that on Tuesday Mrs. Nack sent for him and that when he arrived at the jail she confessed the crime in all its details.

TRAIN BURNED.

Another Disaster Due to the Car Stove.

A Passenger Train Collision Work a Freight Car and Five Burn to Death.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 11.—The passenger train on the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis road, which left St. Louis last evening and which was due in this city at 7:30 o'clock this morning was delayed and entirely consumed by fire at Corbick this morning near Lemsport, Ky., ninety eight miles from Louisville. No lives were lost and, so far as is known, no one was seriously injured. The accident is attributed to a freak of the high winds which overturned a box car standing on the Lemsport siding. The car fell directly across the main track and near a sharp curve on the road. It was not seen by the engineer of the passenger train coming in from the west and the engine and the train crashed into the obstruction, overturning the engine and tender and the combination car. The stove in the combination car set fire to the paper and other inflamable material around it and before the trainmen could remove the car the other coaches also caught fire a sleeper and a day coach being totally destroyed, in addition to the combination car, in which was the smoker and baggage. The passengers had plenty of time to escape and Tuthill Williams, who was one of the ill-fated train, writes that aside from a few bruises, no one was injured. The loss will be heavy.

AMONG THE LODGES.

History of the Fort Wayne Order of Elks.

What the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association Is and Who Are Its Leading Workers.

The Fort Wayne lodge, B. P. O. Elks, No. 133, was granted a charter July 10, 1890. The charter contains the following names: J. H. McKinnie, C. A. Banner, G. W. Wilson, H. J. Seibold, E. W. Cook, B. E. Battersley, G. A. Bates, J. J. Williams, S. D. Bond, G. W. Long, George B. McKinnie, the first officers named, died December 25, 1891. G. W. Wilson succeeded him in office and is the oldest past exalted ruler of this lodge. The lodge has a membership of 160. Efforts are now being made to increase the membership and with that end in view a reduced fifty or more has been started at a reduced rate. The whole class will be initiated about the third week in January. This will be made a red letter day for Elkdom in this city, as all the grand officers will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

The present officers are: F. S. Lightner, exalted ruler; H. J. Tay lor, esteemed leading knight; J. Rose McElhiatt, esteemed loyal knight; F. W. Trinkus, esteemed lecturing knight; M. C. Welsh, secretary; Albert Alter, treasurer; J. J. Bauer, esquire; F. A. Mohr, inner guard; H. C. Meyer, tyler; Chas. F. Muhler, J. B. Rosse, C. E. Cuthbertson, trustees.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was instituted in the city of New York in the year 1867, by a few gentlemen of the theatrical profession, who, with many doubts and fears as to its feasibility, founded an organization designed to be charitable and protective in character, and with the broad principle that the brain workers in the literary, dramatic and musical professions, while at the same time the door was not closed to those in other walks of life who should be in sympathy with the objects of the fraternity. The home of the grand work spread. Our city soon founded branches from the parent stem, and today the fraternal chain has fully 100 links, each representing a city or town of importance, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

The animal from which the order derives its name is the American elk (Cervs Canadensis), and the title commends itself to the fraternity, for the reason that the splendid qualities of this noble animal have so matched. The elk is described as strong of limb, fleet of foot, keen of perception, and at the same time gentle, timid and craggy, grouse, save when attacked. Its prototype in man should be quick to hear the cry of distress, fleet of foot to succor the unfortunate, and by strength a protective interest for the weak and defenseless.

The order is a purely charitable organization, seeking to do its charity in silence, so that the proud spirit that suffers in secret, fearing more the blush of shame than the pangs of hunger, may feel that never will its sore need, nor the manner of its alleviation, be published to the world, and that the faults, the frailties, the weaknesses, and the help extended will remain as sacred confidences never to be divulged. And this fully explains the reason for the secrecy of the organization.

Charity, brotherly love, and fidelity are the watchwords of the order, and humanity its keynote, and daily and hourly do the prayers of the wife and orphan ascend to the throne of grace, craving blessings upon the magnanimous and Benedictine virtues of Elks.

The chiefs and members of the wego tribe No. 203, of Baldwin, Ind., are coming to the front in little over two years since the lodge was instituted has it has progressed slowly but surely, and now it has built a wigwam and will dedicate it next Saturday evening with appropriate ceremonies. A feature of the affair will be a wigwamale ball. The members of Meeka assure us that, of this city, will leave on Saturday afternoon with their wives, to attend.

CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association was organized at Titusville, Penn., April 9, 1890, and incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania with only fourteen branches and 1,052 members, and at the present writing there are 200 branches and 25,000 members. The object of the association are to unite into a fraternal sisterhood all Catholic women and to mutually aid and assist one another. There are two departments of this organization, namely, beneficiary and non-beneficiary. The beneficiary department is divided into two classes. The non-beneficiary department is for the main purpose of promoting sociability amongst Catholic ladies, and they are entitled to all the privileges of the beneficiary member with the exception of the insurance feature.

St. Cecelia's branch, of this city, was organized July 7, 1897, in St. Patrick's parish, with fifty-four charter members, and since the institution of this branch the members have given several grand social parties, which were well attended.

The meetings of this branch are held every alternate Thursday evening at their hall, corner of Calhoun and Highland streets, at 7:30 o'clock.

CATHOLIC SISTERS.

They meet every Saturday night, in K. P. of H. hall, East Berry street. They will give one of their popular entertainments this evening, at their hall, when the following program will be carried out:

[illegible]

After the entertainment refreshments will be served.

A. O. U. W.

Balloting for candidates will be part of the business at the meeting of No. 34 this evening. The initiatory work may also be exemplified in the lower in lodge work is shown on every side and the coming winter will see many names added to the list of members. At the present time the lodge is straining every nerve to make the fair to be given by the First A. O. U. W. band a financial and social success. They are being ably assisted in this by No. 34 and Degree of Honor Nos. 2 and 26.

The First A. O. U. W. band will give the first of their series of entertainments next Monday evening, Nov. 14, at the A. O. U. W. hall, corner of Calhoun and Superior streets. A special program has been arranged for the above date.

K. OF THE G. E.

At the last meeting of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, seven applicants were given the first degree. Another interesting feature of the meeting was an address upon the subject "Degree Work," by Past Chief Hilgeman.

ORDER OF THE RED CROSS.

Lincoln commandery No. 6, of Fort Wayne, was organized April 8, 1886, with thirty-two charter members. There are now eighty-four communicants and about 4,000 auxiliary members. The order publishes a monthly, a little paper called the Red Cross Gazette, edited by members are interested as to the progress of the order, as it is sent free to each one. The financial depression of the country is no less felt in Fort Wayne than other cities, there does rescinding the increase of membership in all organizations. The order has been very successful however, in meeting all its obligations, both beneficiary and social. Great interest is shown in attending the sick. If a brother or sister is

THE will of the late Charles A. Dana has been probated. The instrument devises property of the value of $1,200,000, all of which goes to the widow, except the shares of $25,000 each owned by the late editor, and this is to be held by the son, Paul Dana, in trust. The will establishes the fact that during the thirty years Mr. Dana owned the Sun it was a splendidly paying piece of newspaper property.

WHAT success has had any opposition to deep Waterway Barrett a single resort that would tend to save his neck from the gallows, it certainly seems that there has been no undue waste of time in getting to that point where the judgment of the law may finally take its course. It is almost three years since the awful crime was committed in the Emerald Isle of Ireland and the man adjudged guilty of the crime is still awaiting of justice. The history of criminal jurisprudence during the past decade goes far to prove that the more immortal and atrocious the crime or conviction, if murder the more difficult it is to secure the punishment of the murderer.

FAST MAIL.

The Government Decides to Improve a Western Route.

Southwestern Limo Finally Accepts as a Trade Across Missouri—Effects on the Wabash.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 11.—Word has been received in Topeka that the government has decided to improve the Kansas fast mail service and has arranged with the santa fe railway to have the time of the fast mail train from Kansas City to Newton shortened so that it will connect at the latter place with No. 3, westbound, on the main line, and with the Great Western train. The fast mail will leave Kansas City half an hour earlier, at 2:30 a. m., and arrive at Newton at 7:10 a. m., making an average speed of sixty four miles an hour. This will give the people on the main line and branches west of Newton and those on the Galveston line their eastern mail six hours earlier than they get it now. The new arrangement will probably go into effect November 21.

A NEW TRUNK AGREEMENT.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—The conference of passenger agents of south western lines in session here for the past few days, has revised and completed the articles of agreement of the new passenger association and the agreement will take effect as soon as signed by the executive officers of the different companies which will not be later than December 1. A set of rules are to govern the officials and the employees will be made to suit the agreements. The matter of through ticket commissions to be paid to agents of connecting lines will be considered today and a schedule of rates for the same will be adopted. The Kansas City, Pittsburg and North railroad company is not a member of the new association. The policy of this present management is to carry out of all traffic agreements.

Cooper, of Boston, Mass.; secretary and treasurer, P. W. Smith, of Boston, Mass.; general manager, W. V. Tredennick, of Harper, Ind. The officers and stockholders were of the opinion that the Wabash company would not allow the Big Muddy to pass beyond their control and that when the property was sold that company would buy it. In fact, it was given out that the Wabash was to make the Big Muddy its main line in the event of the failure of Toledo bonds to be floated. The car painters at one time had the largest labor organization in Fort Wayne, and it is the hope of the members to make it as large as it ever was.

TROUBLE ONLY HER TALK.

Toledo Blade.—A rumor has gained currency that the Wabash company will remove its shops, now at Springfield, Ill., to Decatur. The only reason to be an improbable one for the reason that the company would necessarily abandon a vast amount of real estate at the former place which it would not find a buyer for years to come. The purchase of a new stationary engine and other improvements now going on at the Toledo shops would indicate that the amount of work to be done here will be increased in the future.

CHANGES AT LOCOMOTIVES.

The Baldwin locomotive works have within the past few days booked orders for fifty-six locomotives. The orders include twenty nine locomotives for the government state railway of Finland, the first order of any magnitude that has ever been placed in this country from that place. Another order is for twenty four heavy freight engines for the government of Brazil, while the third order is from the Grand Trunk railway of Canada and is for ten locomotives. All of these orders call for the completion and delivery of the locomotives by January, 1898.

A TRAVELING AUDITOR DEAD.

Robert Holahay, of Kansas City, traveling auditor of the Rock Island railroad, died suddenly yesterday at Smith Center, Kas., from hemorrhages of the stomach. He was well known in Kansas and formerly lived at Leavenworth. He was a brother in law of ex-Gov. Thomas A. Osborn.

A NEW CARPET FACTORY.

The Imperial Manufacturing company is now operating its garment establishment, at 34 and 36 West Columbia street, to its full capacity. The second and third floors of the large flush block, at the above number, have been equipped with all the modern machinery for the class of work and a large force of men and women are there busily engaged upon garments for the spring and summer trade of 1898. The company has put in an electric plant and now furnishes its own lights. This week the following salesmen were put upon the road: Fred Foch, Indiana, Chicago and the northwest; R. G. Sprague, south and southwestern territory; A. Rothschild and Ed Jaszynsky, Pacific coast territory. The Imperial Manufacturing company has also established an eastern office at No. 38 Wooster street, New York.

A FREIGHT CAR CONTRACT.

Such is the situation at the electric works this week. J. J. Wood, the superintendent, said this morning that the men engaged in building dynamos were 107 behind the orders, notwithstanding the fact that they have been and are still working from two to four hours overtime in some of the departments. When Mr. McDonald returns to the east some definite arrangements toward the erection of an addition to the factory will probably be taken. It is understood that the sale of bonds has been satisfactory.

TWO INTERESTING PARTIES.

Superintendent of Signals W. McCrea Grafton and Superintendent of Telegraph A. E. Sedgwick, of the Pennsylvania lines, are out on their annual inspection of the interlocking switches and telegraph offices. They left Chicago on a special train this morning, accompanied by Transmaster Charles E. Walton and Chief Dispatcher Will B. Tuge, and will arrive in this city this evening. Another special train which left Chicago this morning over the Pennsylvania carries a party of freight officials on their annual inspection. This party will stop at all stations en route and check the cars a number of times during. They will remain here over night and continue the inspection tomorrow morning.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 6.
Mrs. ESTHER KARN, City.

DEAR MADAM:—The song written by you, entitled "Jessie," and which you have had the kindness to dedicate to me, I appreciate very highly. It is good music and I had hoped to sing it during this week's engagement in Fort Wayne, but I have been so exceedingly busy that I could not prepare myself to sing it in a manner to do justice to you or myself.

Respectfully
JESSIE MAE HALL.

THE FEEBLE-MINDED.

in our power. It is no Utopian scheme, but a common man's work to be done with common sense and a good heart. The state must take care of all these poor people for life, must give them a good home and train those of them who can be trained so that they shall earn their own living when they are old enough and strong enough; must make them happy and contented; must give them all that other people have, except just one thing, and that is married life.

"Now I can best tell you how I think the state should do the work for all the rest by telling you what we are doing with the 575 we have at Fort Wayne. We have there a great big building which cost a great deal of money, and holds 450 children on a lot of fifty-five acres. We have also a frame building which cost very little, and holds fifty-five upon a farm of 505 acres partly cleared and partly rented. Of our 575, 390 are in school part of the day, and all learn something. Our youngest child is five, our oldest forty-seven, still always children. Every child able to work does a little to help, many do a great deal. Of our 575, about 120 can be properly classed as quite self supporting, i.e., the work they do is worth the entire cost of their board, clothes and care. These are the older children, who have gone through school, and now belong to the industrial or domestic departments. They are our shoemakers, tailors, dressmakers, laundresses, assistant cooks, helpers of the engineer and blacksmiths, gardeners, teamsters, millers, brickmakers, brick-layers, hod carriers, assistant carpenters, mattress makers, hostlers, gardeners and those employed as aids in the care of the younger and weaker children. Our garden force gave us a splendid supply of vegetables all summer, and enough canned tomatoes, kraut and other vegetables, except potatoes and onions, for the winter. Our brick machine molded and burned a quarter million good brick this season, and as it was their first year, we think they will make half a million next year. Our cellars send us down seventy-five gallons of milk every day, and our farm boys give us fat hogs enough to provide all our home, bacon, pork and lard. Our shoe shop gives us about 1,200 new pair of shoes and does 2,000 or more mending jobs each year. Our laundry boys and ironing room girls take care of about 11,000 pieces every week. In each department is one paid employe, the foreman of the shop, working with the feeble-minded boys or girls. Our brass band makes music for all, but our singing classes show results that surprise our friends. Our schools begin below the kindergarten and end in the industrial building. We think we have as good chapel services as anybody, and we gave one of our quarterly revivals Sunday school lessons as usual and that we were invited to give it as a normal lesson for the township Sunday school institute and convention.

"We are doing a little better work every year and are doing it a little more cheaply because we are learning to do it better. When I tell visitors here is a boy, or here is a girl, who is quite self-supporting, they often say, 'But he cannot do a man's work,' and I say, 'No, certainly not. A laboring man with steady employment can support himself and a family. If he could do a man's work, he would be three times self-supporting. If he does one-third of a man's work, he supports himself in this institution,' and then they begin to understand that our workers are happier with us than out in the world, because we do not overtask them, nor expect of them any more than they can do without undue fatigue of body or brain.

"Now, that I have told you something of what we are doing, you will begin to see my plan for the whole work. Give us all the children of feeble minds, let us train them in our schools and graduate them to our farms, our shops and other industries. Let us keep them when they grow to the age and stature of men and women, and very shortly you will have all the feeble-minded in the safe motherly care of our good mother state, and one source of trouble, one prolific fountain of evil will be stopped. This is the normal way—to begin with them as children and keep them when full grown. But there is just one class of adults whom I would like to see given us at once. It is the feeble-minded women of child-bearing age, now in the county poor asylums. I have already told you why these should have the state's care. The actual cost of each of these poor women to the taxpayers is about $75. Our brick yard force next summer will try to make bricks enough to build homes for 300 of them; then we shall ask the legislature of 1899 for enough money to make the bricks into good, plain, substantial cottages, and to give us an increase of our maintenance fund, enough to care for them at not to exceed what they are costing the taxpayers now.

"Of course, in a few years, if we take in the young children and keep extending our accommodation, the institution would soon grow too large and unwieldy for economy and wise management. I think with our present land we ought not to move than double our present population. With 600 more than we might take in 1,500. Then, there must come an other institution in the southern part of the state, built and equipped better than ours, because gaining knowledge from our experience. Perhaps also the legislature will take our epileptics from us, or at least give us no more of them, by establishing a special epileptic colony, as Ohio and New York have done. However these things may be for the next few years, I think the course to be pursued is plain and certain.

"Now, if the plan seems feasible, and practical, if the needs and the advantages are anything like what I have described them to be, will you not all help us to secure the room and maintenance we need by urging our claims upon your representatives and senators? What we are doing for the feeble-minded and idiotic may be done in similar ways for all those who need the state's parental care, and who for their own sakes and for the sake of ourselves and our children should be eliminated and segregated.

A Sensible Canadian Mining Law.

In Canadian territory any male or female, citizen or alien, over 18, can take out a miner's license for $15 to be renewed each year at $100. Everything is done to foster and encourage the miner. Our govern ment has left the Western pioneers to make their own laws, protect themselves and property and build their own roads. Joseph Ladue says in "Life in Klondike," "Miner's law is all right in the first stages. Then it is all by miner's meeting. They begin by being fair, but after a while cliques are formed and run things to suit the men in charge. Some writers condemn the Canadian royalty of 10 and 20 per cent. Thousands of Western miners would gladly give 10 to 20 per cent if the government encouraged them to the extent that the Canadian government does. Notably is this true of the rich gold and oil fields of Wyoming. None need fear the Canadian treatment of miners and miners. A striking instance of liberality is the fact that Joseph Ladue, an American citizen, acquired a rich placer claim, 1,000 feet long (claims are now restricted to 500 feet), yielding $12 per cubic foot; a grant of 15 miles of timber on both sides of the Yukon on which Mr. Ladue erected a saw mill, now earning $1,250 per day; the town site of Dawson City, a very rich quartz claim of four milling ore 600 feet wide, assays of which average $300 per ton, and a charter with full powers for every line of profitable business. Owing to a change in the law no such charter can now be obtained by any other company. This charter and all of the above properties, including 60 carefully selected lots in Dawson City, have been turned over by Mr. Ladue to the Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Development company of Yukon, which owns in fee simple all of the above valuable assets. Many others are seeking to sell stock on strength of what they hope to acquire next year. Mr. Ladue is president and general manager, and the directors are Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Hon. Thomas L. Kane, ex-Postmaster General and President of the Lincoln National Bank, New York; Hon. Smith M. Weed; H. Walter Webb; Hon. C. H. Mackintosh, Governor of the Canadian North Western Territories, and others of equal ability. With such a directorate and such properties success is assured. The subscription lists to the stock of the company are now open at the Chicago offices, 1106 Chamber of Commerce Building.

BUSINESS CHANGE

of Interest to Fort Wayne Manufacturers.

The Fort Wayne Organ company has purchased the entire stock of small musical instruments and sheet music of the Fort Wayne Music company, and have engaged the services of Mr. Harry Ackenhusen to conduct a small goods and sheet music department at the small store of the Packard Piano and Organ company, 120 Calhoun street, Schmitz block.

Their stock will be the largest and most complete in the city, consisting of Guitars, Mandolins, Violins, Music Boxes, Autoharps and Harmonicas, and, in fact, all small musical instruments and a complete catalogue of all standard music and instruction books, together with all new and popular hits as they appear. Of these we shall make a specialty.

Mr. Ackenhusen extends a cordial invitation to all his former patrons to visit him at his new quarters, and we trust the music loving people of this vicinity will favor us with at least a share of their patronage.

Come in and examine our stock and compare our prices.
